

National Health, Safety & Environment Manager - Auckland

The Fletcher Construction Company is the leading general contractor in New Zealand with unrivalled depth and breadth of experience across the construction industry.

At all levels of the organisation there is a real commitment to achieving Zero Harm, improving the health of employees and ensuring excellent environmental performance.

To lead this initiative across the Building & Interiors division of the company, we seek a senior and highly experienced Health & Safety and /or Environmental professional to join us.

You will be someone who offers a strong track record in strategic level initiatives, from development and implementation, through to monitoring and reporting. You will also have appropriate and relevant tertiary level qualifications.

The over-arching priority of this position will be to drive culture change in relation to Health & Safety and Environmental practices. Your ability to understand and influence individuals to modify behaviours will be pivotal to your success. As a result a strong sense of mission, combined with excellent interpersonal skills will also be key requirements.

If you are able to demonstrate your ability to make a significant impact on an organisation's performance through a range of compelling initiatives which you have driven - then we would very much like to talk with you

Are you up for the challenge?

You will enjoy an attractive remuneration package and a range of Fletcher Building employee benefits such as an employee education fund and career development programmes.
